

The soil texture triangle is a graph that can help geographers diagnose which type of soil they have in a sample following a sedimentation survey.

